Gallerie Nvyva will be presenting an art exhibition, "The Winter Tale", a much awaited show driven with the intention of displaying works by a range of renowned artists from all across the country. Participating artists will include internationally acclaimed names like Farhad Husain, Fawad Tamkanat, Gurdeep Singh, Jogen Choudhury and K G Subramanyan.

The amalgamation of the art by so many renowned artists under one roof affirms aesthetic sensibility, and celebrates the creative impulse that weaves colour and form into variegated manifestations of visual reality. From the collection, some of the artworks really stand out.

The Last Temptation by Vinita Das Gupta, for instance. Gupta's painting of Marilyn Monroe, as rest of her works, speaks enduring truths in a style that is measured and patient. Her approach remains visual more than anything. Her adaption of the style icon on a colourful canvas is reason itself to visit the exhibition.

From Nvyva, this is an initiative to share and make available art that stands on the threshold of recognition and is filled with promise. The exhibition provides an optimistic insight into the new range that Indian art has to offer.
